Becoming a Global Innovator – Leadership for the 21st century

(LEAS3142)

Introduction	We live in a radically different world, compared to our parents or grandparents. Sharing economy, e-commerce, global supply chains, social networks and international institutions create problems that humanity has never faced before, but also provide potential for creative and innovative solutions. Social innovation and social entrepreneurship are transforming the business landscape, but we need the right type of global awareness and leadership skills to navigate our new world. This advanced leadership course will introduce global changemakers, inspiring social innovations both on an international and a Hong Kong local scale, and will equip you with the skills to think and act like a social entrepreneur.
