

Thinking like a Historical Figure (HUMP1021)

Introduction

"History can teach us much more than just the facts. It's full of examples of how to live better." One of the greatest benefits of studying history is the inspiration we can draw from those who have worked to make a difference in the world. Consider the traits and positive virtues of some well-known historical figures such as Abraham Lincoln, as well as some of the lesser-known figures who gained great success by staying true to their characters.

Enjoy the study of historical figures and how they positively contributed to society by sharing research in an exciting and fun way.
