

Affective Education Workshop – Social Relationship (I): Social Style

(PGSSW0045)

Introduction

Living in a socialised society, we all need to know how to collaborate and communicate with other people. Do you think you can establish relationships with others, get along well with them, and handle interpersonal conflicts? What skills are needed for building effective interpersonal relationships?

In the first workshop, Social Relationship (I): Social Style, you are going to review your social style and learn how to interact with other participants. At the same time, you will be able to understand and reflect on your interpersonal skills and see if there is any room for improvement. Lastly, you can learn and practise effective interaction skills with the trainer and other participants through acquiring the basics of communication and social skills.

A series of 3 interrelated workshops will be held from June to August, one in each month. In these workshops, you will be able to learn on various topics relating to social relations, such as social styles, communication skills, empathy, getting along with your peers, family and teachers, conflict management, etc.

If you are interested in understanding social relations, don't miss this opportunity. You are also encouraged to complete the whole series for mastering the social techniques progressively.
