

You Can Make A Change (ELLP1253)

Introduction

After reading and listening to stories, students will explore and share the feelings of the subjects in the text; work with others to solve the problems being presented; discuss, write and improvise opinions and stories of their own.

The course aims to:

- enhance social skills and empathy by exploring and sharing the feelings of the subjects in the text;
- develop problem-solving and critical thinking skills by finding ways out of the issues;
- develop team work by working with others;
- develop language skills and creativity through discussion, writing and improvisation.

The instructor, Ms Luk, has been an English teacher in both primary and secondary schools since 1987 and is experienced in teaching English as a foreign language.
