Ever wondered what law has to do with our environment? With increasing production to satisfy the growing consumer demand, as well as the expanding need for transport and other types of services, firms and enterprises must be regulated in the interest of the society.

This course provides insightful knowledge on environmental pollution, the laws regulating pollution, basic criminal mock trial skills, and last but not least, the invaluable experience to argue a mock trial case in a court setting.

Suit up, lawyers, for a unique and fun experience!
